

Brainy Data Licenses

November 2007

This document describes the licenses available for our software. For current prices please refer to our pricing tables available in a separate document.

If you find that the licenses and services on offer are not suitable for your circumstances, please contact us.

A. Corporate license

Who is this license for?

The corporate license is primarily aimed at “Corporate Clients/Companies” that develop software for internal use.

“Software developers” may also purchase this type of license in preference to the Product License, as deployment costs reduce at higher bands.

“Software consultants” must purchase this type of license on behalf of their clients.

License details

The standard license constitutes a company developer license and a banded deployment license.

Development: For development purposes, the Licensee may install the Software on multiple computers, provided that these computers are used solely by the Licensee or employees of the Licensee if the Licensee is a company, and that all computers are located at the same geographical site. This constitutes the single site developer license.

Deployment: The Software may be deployed by the Licensee (up to the maximum number of users as stipulated by the distribution license) provided it is deployed only for the use by end users of the Licensee's Products and that these Products add significant functionality to the Software.

The Software may not be deployed for the purpose of further development of the Software.

The Licensee may not redistribute the Software with an application that provides a programming interface that permits other programs to access the Software's functions.

Deployment bands: The deployment licenses are sold in the following bands: 5, 10, 25, 50, 100, 250, 500, and 1000 Users.

Note for Software developers: A single band can be used to license software for a number of clients regardless of geographical location and number of products involved. Let us say you wish to deploy your product to five clients with 15-20 users each. You would simply purchase a 100-user distribution license. If in time your total number of users increases beyond 100, you can simply upgrade to the next band and pay the difference in price.

Note for consultants: The Licensee is the owner of the products that incorporate our software. Independent consultants who are hired to develop products on behalf of a client must license the deployment bands in their client's name. Please make sure that your clients are aware of their responsibility for licensing the correct bands.

B. Unlimited corporate and product license

Same as License A. but includes an unlimited deployment license.

C. Product license

Who is this license for?

This license is aimed at software developers who produce software that is sold or licensed to third parties.

License details

The deployment license is charged per user. A minimum annual distribution applies to cover the development costs of maintenance and new feature releases. The product license includes full annual support at no extra cost.

Low cost software pricing: A small fee per copy sold is negotiated on an individual case-by-case basis. To qualify, your software must have a fixed advertised retail price.

D. Annual licenses

Who is this license for?

This license is aimed at software developers who produce software that is sold or licensed to third parties or "Corporate Clients/Companies" that develop software for internal use.

License details

Annual licenses are negotiated based on the size of the deployment base. An annual fee is charged as long as you and your customers continue to use the software. The annual fee includes full premier support (see section E for support benefits). The commitment to the annual fee benefits a greatly reduced license fee.

Please note: If the annual payment is not made, the license to develop and deploy the software is canceled and you and your customers may no longer use the software covered by this agreement.

Cost comparison for OWrite Plus developer license and 500 User deployment:

License 'A': £1,800 + £540 per year for premier support

License 'D': £720 per year

Cost comparison for PDFDevice developer license and 250 User deployment:

License 'A': £650 + £195 per year for premier support

License 'D': £260 per year

E. Annual Support (License 'A' and 'B' only)

Most products will be sold with 6 or 12 months free support. At the end of the free support period you can extend this support by paying a yearly subscription fee.

Support Benefits

The support subscription includes the following

- E-mail technical support.
- Bug reporting facility.
- Maintenance updates (bug fixes).
- All new versions of the product (nothing to pay for future versions)
- Intermediate patches (important bugs /get that important new feature now)
- Input into new features (you decide which features are important)

F. Software upgrades

Upgrades to new versions of our software, that implement new features or feature enhancements, are charged at a percentage rate of the current price of the software. The percentage may vary for some products. Always consult our Pricing table.

Upgrades by two or more version are charged at full cost.

Note: Customers on our support program do not pay for upgrades.